Closing point gauge “EAZY Ding”: the measuring tool

The control specialist EAZY Systems has developed the “EAZY Ding” for the professional exchange of thermal actuators at surface heating systems. Thanks to this closing point gauge, the specialist trade will be able to find the right thread dimension and closing point of existing actuators on site and consequently use the perfectly fitting actuator. As of now the new closing point gauge “EAZY Ding” is available via the three-stage sales channel.

Read more: https://www.haustechnikdialog.de/News/27471/Neues-Mess-und-Kontroll-Tool-

Ort: HaustechnikDialog.de
Datum: November 2022